

Aids and Equipment

You may find that you will need specific pieces of equipment to help you care for your child or aids to help them to get the most out of life.

You should be assessed by someone from your local health or social services department or children's team who can inform you about the options available to you.

This factsheet provides details of some organisations that can provide information about suitable aids and equipment to help you to support your child. In some cases, these organisations can also provide the equipment directly.
